THE GLEANER

The passengers on the good steamship Alaska, who crossed the ocean with Mrs. Frank Leslie and Willie Wilde, had the dreary monotony of Atlantic travel agreeably enlivened. The interesting couple afforded a perpetual fund of amusement. Mrs. Leslie rarely appeared until noon each day when she promensided the deck in all the glory of a faultless attire. Mr. Wilde was loud on deck:

15 45, 7.30 P. M. Sunday, 4.30, 7.15 A. M. 4.00, 7.15 A. M. 4.00, 7.15 A. M. 100, 7

SANDY HOOK ROUTE. willic evideacty appreciates his wife's generosity. At the concert given on board for the benefit of the irrepressible Liverpool orphans Mr. Wilde acted as chairman. Mrs. Leslie, who was not present, sent in a contribution of $5, to which fact Mr. Wilde all fuded exactly seven times. There were several other people who gave similar sums, but Mr. Wilde, with conjugal fondness, directed his remarks to his wife's aware charity. Trains !cave above station via
